The water is a murky, brownish-green color, showing significant ripples and a prominent wake from a boat moving across it. In the lower right corner, the white hull of a boat is partially visible. An aerial photograph of a large, circular pond filled with water. The water is a murky greenish-brown color. In the center of the pond, there is a large, circular area where the water is more turbulent, with many small, reddish-brown objects (possibly fish or eggs) scattered throughout. The rest of the pond is filled with many smaller, similar objects. The overall scene suggests a large-scale aquaculture or fishing operation.
